Pininfarina, Hybrid Kinetic ink 65-m euro pact for electric car

Turin/New Delhi, Feb 27: Mahindra group-owned automotive design firm Pininfarina has inked a pact worth 65 million euros (around ₹460 crore) with Hong-Kong listed Hybrid Kinetic Group for developing an electric car.

As part of the agreement, the Turin-based company will support Hybrid Kinetic in the turnkey development of an electric car from the styling concept and development till virtual and physical validation for series production. The collaboration agreement, worth about 65 million euros, will have a total duration of 46 months and Tech Mahindra is expected to play a significant role.

"This agreement confirms the primacy of our company in the world of automotive design, engineering and production of small series at a time of great change in the automotive world. Synergies with a larger group such as Tech Mahindra are strengthening our business opportunities," Pininfarina Group CEO Silvio Pietro Angori said in a statement.

In fact, the company is now more competitive because it has access to a wider range of world-class skills at lower costs, he added.

"To our respective existing customer pools we can offer fully comprehensive design and engineering services. Further, we see synergies with Tech Mahindra enabling us to compete with more traditional players in the domain of electric and hybrid platforms, autonomous driving and connected cars," Angori said.

The combination of Italian design from Pininfarina and of best competitive engineering from Tech Mahindra will make a major difference, he added.

Demand for storage devices shot up after note ban: Seagate

Singapore, Feb 27: Post-demonetisation, demand shot up for storage devices in India, according to global data storage devices maker Seagate. While this has benefitted the company, surveillance and mass data consumption hold promise for the future, it says.

"We find it terribly exciting. In the area of security, India has been one of the fastest growing regions in the recent past. Demonetisation in November triggered a huge demand for storage drives from major banks as well as for scaling up surveillance installation. We see that as a big (growth) driver," BS told a contingent of Indian media visiting here.

Post-demonetisation, banks in India went rushed to save data on external storage devices for better safekeeping which boosted demand for the devices, the company said.

Seagate is in talks at various levels in India so as to explore demand for data storage solutions, BS said.

"We are talking to everybody to understand how we can participate more effectively with end users, be it government, banks, system integrators, original equipment manufacturers (OEMs)," he said.

The company sees huge demand coming from surveillance as well as personal data consumption as it would automatically generate the need for storage, he added. Globally, there is a shift in data storage location from personal computer(PC) to non-PC storage, the company said.

In a presentation, it said that in 2010 more than half the data storage (65 per cent) was shipped into the PC market, while the rest (35%) data at a capacity of 105 exabytes was into non-PC storage.
